The 2010 CSA season is coming to an end. We will have one more box delivery on November 17th—same times, same places. The last meat share delivery for the season will be on November 17th as well. We had made a decision this year to move away from paper as much as possible. Most of you appreciate receiving our newsletters via email. We will be generating an on-line survey that we will ask you to fill out in the near future. We have some big ideas for next year and appreciate any and all feedback. We have very tough skin and welcome thoughtful critique both positive and negative.

Many people ask, "what do you do in the winter?" We stay busy with our butternut squash peeling business, caring for the hens and selling eggs, and selling a few random storage crops, but mostly we scheme and plan for the next season. Some of the things that we are considering for next year; switching to a new software system that will allow us to run an extensive on-line store, offering one size box (standard) with the option to buy additional weekly produce, offering a vacation option--so if you are fortunate enough to be able to travel during the summer you can opt for 18 weeks instead of 20 (and yes you get to choose which weeks). One last change that we are considering is running the CSA during the summer months with a bonus box at Thanksgiving and another at Christmas. We are also looking for new neighborhood drop sites, so if you have any ideas let us know.

We thank you for a great season; it's a joy to be able to feed such a diversified and wonderful group of people.
